

SENATOR JAMES TO BE CHAIRMAN

Of Democratic Convention.—President Wilson Approves The Selection Of Our Ollie For Permanent Honor.

Washington, June 3rd.—President Wilson has approved the tentative selection of Ollie James, of Marion Ky., for permanent chairman of the Democratic convention at St. Louis. This assures the election of the senator by the convention.

As the permanent chairman, Senator James will be named the head of the committee which will notify President Wilson of his nomination, as he did after the Baltimore convention. The president has not decided yet where he will receive the notification of the committee, although his supporters in New Jersey are very anxious that he go to "Shadow Lawn," his summer home in that state for the ceremony. Senator Stone, of Missouri, has been tentatively decided upon as chairman of the platform committee and when he goes to St. Louis will probably carry with him the outlines of the platform drawn by President Wilson himself.

LORD KITCHENER

Britain's Greatest Soldier Meets Doom With All On Board The Ship.

London, June 6.—Admiral Jellicoe, commander of the British grand fleet, reported to the Admiralty today that the British cruiser Hampshire, with Earl Kitchener and his staff aboard was lost off the West Orkneys. Four boats were seen to leave the Hampshire but a heavy sea was running and only a capsized boat and some bodies have been found.

Kitchener was on his way to Russia. Jellicoe reported little hope for any survivors. Kitchener was appointed secretary of state for war August 8, 1914. He was recognized as England's greatest soldier.

The Orkneys are off the north coast of Scotland. The Hampshire was on its way into the Atlantic around the northern end of the Scandinavian peninsula into the White sea. Kitchener probably intended to debark at Archangel. There had been no previous intimation that he intended to leave England.

The Hampshire was an old cruiser of approximately 11,000 tons.

Coleman, a prominent farmer of Caldwell county. The groom is the son of Mr. S. M. Dempsey, the watchmaker of this place, and he is an industrious young man of good habits and popular among acquaintances. The young couple will reside here. —Providence Enterprise.

A Curiosity.

Mrs. John E. Glass has a chicken with 4 well developed feet. It was hatched in a setting of eggs which she purchased of J. B. Carter. It is quite a curiosity and she hopes it will live and do well. It is well provided with scratchers, having 4 instead of two and should get its share of the worms and grow accordingly. It is said the "early bird gets the worm." How about the chick with four scratchers instead of two.

HEALTH IS BASIS OF ALL CONTENT

The Half Sick Man or Woman Is A Stranger to Happiness

Contentment is the very essence of happiness. But, to be contented, or happy, if you will, one must first have good health. Our supreme toast to the one we admire is Health, Wealth, and Happiness, and the keystone is happiness.

So many persons complain of being nervous and run down. This is the age of speed, no time to care for ourselves. These run down men and women are not exactly sick, but just tired out, languid or maybe good-for-nothing most of the time. Their business, their home and their life suffer.

They need something to build them up, something to throw off these symptoms of a weakened, debilitated condition produced by either mental or physical overwork or by the abuse of a vital organ—more often the stomach than any other.

That something has been found. It is Tanlac. A tonic of rare properties, an appetizer and general invigorant that rids the system of congestion, tones up the stomach, e h, overcoming indigestion, headaches, backaches, nonassimilation of food, nervousness, dizziness, ailments of kidneys and liver, and the complaints that are so common to the half sick, debilitated men and women of today.

Its effect is like lifting your spirits gently back to the level of the world's happiness that rests on health.

Tanlac may be obtained in Marion Ky. at J. H. Orme's Drug store, where its properties cheerfully are explained to all callers.

Another One of Marion's Best Citizens Has Moved Away.

Dr. J. Earnest Fox and his estimable wife left yesterday for Smithland, Ky., to reside.

Dr. Fox has purchased the office outfit of Dr. Fred LaRue who was recently appointed to the position of Superintendent of the Western State Hospital, at Hopkinsville and who will remove from Smithland to assume his duties about July 1st.

Dr. Fox wishes to get established in his new home and office before Dr. LaRue leaves for Hopkinsville.

Marion is the loser by the removal of Dr. Fox. He has been here a number of years and has the esteem and confidence of our people and has been successful in the practice of his profession. His wife who was Miss Grace Parsons of Pinckneyville, leaves many friends here but is not a stranger at Smithland, having visited there many times, being a sister of John C. Parsons, late Master Commissioner.

We take pleasure in commending this young couple to the good people of Livingston county. Dr. Fox has a quiet and unassuming manner which bespeaks the gentleman, and his popularity will grow at his new home as he becomes better acquainted.

Drag The Roads.

Mr. Dave Wolford of Mexico employed B. F. Capps to drag the road from Francis to the main road, via of Mexico, a distance of six miles. The work was done with a steel drag pulled by four mules. Mr. Capps did the work in less than a day and the road is now first class.

Miss. Dovie Walker of Sikeston, Mo. one of the most attractive visitors who has been in Marion this season left Saturday for home after spending several weeks with her aunt Mrs. O. H. Paris on Bellville Street.

10,000 LIVES LOST 32 SHIPS ARE SUNK IN THE ENCOUNTER

First Reports Showing Almost a Defeat for British Navy Changed To What Amounts to a Great Victory.

British Lost 14 Ships While Germans Lost 18

Germans Stole Out of Naval Base At Kiel, and After Luring British Into Seas Sowed With Mines, Were Forced Back Into Safe Retreat.

London, June 7.—The greatest naval battle in the history of the world has been fought; the event for which the entire civilized world has been waiting for nearly two years has at last occurred. The fleets of the British and German navy came together off Jutland in the North sea last Wednesday, and at the end of a terrific sea battle, during which the British vessels were lured into waters well planted with mines, the Germans were forced to retire into their safe retreat at Kiel, with the British suffering the least loss, and still in command of the seas.

First accounts declared that the British had lost fourteen vessels, while the Germans had lost but three large vessels and a few smaller craft. Later accounts, however, show that the Germans lost eighteen vessels, including two battleships, two dreadnaughts, four cruisers, nine torpedo boats and a submarine, while the report of British losses remains unchanged. Apparently the British made a complete report of their losses at once, while the Germans have endeavored to keep secret the extent of the damage done to the German navy.

The loss of life is placed at approximately 10,000, and included in the list are several admirals of both sides who went down with their ships.

It is reported that a man named King and his son, who lived west of Augusta, lost their lives. Cedron is about three miles from Augusta, directly across the Ohio river.
